Manual Update

HP Integral Personal Computer documentation, edition 1

Update Identification

Part Number: 00095-90096
Date: November, 1984

This update contains additional information about using your HP Integral PC. To protect your computer and your data, read and follow these important instructions.

Insert the System Disc Before Switching On the Computer

To ensure the proper operation of your computer, be sure to insert the system disc (or the tutor disc) before you switch on the computer. The system disc contains a program named "prep_sys" that you should run every time you switch on the computer. If the system disc is inserted when the computer is switched on, the prep_sys program runs automatically.

(The prep_sys program also runs automatically if you insert the tutor disc and switch on the computer.)

If you forget to insert the system disc before switching on the computer, you can run the prep_sys program like any other: select the PAM window, insert the system disc, and then highlight and start the prep_sys program.

Failure to run the prep_sys program can result in the loss of data stored on discs.

When you are familiar with the computer, you'll probably have a working disc—one that contains copies of the programs and data files you use most. For convenience you can copy the prep_sys program and the data file "prep_sys.data" from the system disc to your working disc. If you want the prep_sys program to start automatically (as it does on the system disc), also copy the program "Autost" from the system disc to your working disc.

The Autost program on the system disc is an autostart script file that runs the prep_sys program. If you know about script files (described in the comprehensive guide) you can add your own commands or append commands from another autostart script file; however, every autostart script file must run the prep_sys program.

Save and Use the Cardboard Disc

Your computer is shipped with a cardboard disc inserted in the disc drive. This cardboard disc protects the disc drive from damage in case of sudden motion or impact.

Store this cardboard disc in the space next to the printer controls, and remember to insert the cardboard disc in the drive before you transport the computer. This will protect the drive from damage in case you drop the computer.

HP Software Product License Agreement and Limited Warranty

Important: Please carefully read this License Agreement before opening the media envelope or operating the equipment. Rights in the software are offered only on the condition that the Customer agrees to all terms and conditions of the License Agreement. Opening the media envelope or operating the equipment indicates your acceptance of these terms and conditions. If you do not agree to the License Agreement, you may return the unopened package for a full refund.

License Agreement

In return for payment of the applicable fee, HP grants the Customer a license in the software, until terminated, subject to the following:

Use

- Customer may use the software on any one computer.
- Customer may not reverse assemble or decompile the software.

Copies and Adaptations

- Customer may make copies or adaptations of the software:
  - a. For archival purposes, or
  - b. When copying or adaptation is an essential step in the use of the software with a computer so long as the copies and adaptations are used in no other manner.
- Customer has no other rights to copy unless it acquires an appropriate license to reproduce which is available from HP for some software.

Termination

- HP may terminate this software license for failure to comply with any of these terms provided HP has requested Customer to cure the failure and Customer has failed to do so within thirty (30) days of such notice.

Updates and Upgrades

- Customer agrees that the software does not include updates and upgrades which may be available from HP under a separate support agreement.

Export Clause

- Customer agrees not to export or re-export the software or any copy or adaptation in violation of the U.S. Export Administration regulations or other applicable regulations.

Limited Warranty

Software: HP warrants for a period of 90 days from the date of purchase that the software product will execute its programming instructions when properly installed on the personal computer or workstation indicated on this package. HP does not warrant that the operation of the software will be uninterrupted or error free. In the event that this software product fails to execute its programming instructions during the warranty period, Customer's remedy shall be to return the diskette(s) or tape cartridge(s) ("media") to HP for replacement. Should HP be unable to replace the media within a reasonable amount of time, Customer's alternate remedy shall be a refund of the purchase price upon return of the product and all copies.

Media: HP warrants the media upon which this product is recorded to be free from defects in materials and workmanship under normal use for a period of 90 days from the date of purchase. In the event any media prove to be defective during the warranty period, Customer's remedy shall be to return the media to HP for replacement. Should HP be unable to replace the media within a reasonable amount of time, Customer's alternate remedy shall be a refund of the purchase price upon return of the product and all copies.

- Customer agrees that no warranty, free installation, or free training is provided by HP for any copies or adaptations made by Customer.
- All copies and adaptations of the software must bear the copyright notice(s) contained in or on the original.

Ownership

- Customer agrees that it does not have any title or ownership of the software, other than ownership of the physical media.
- Customer acknowledges and agrees that the software is copyrighted and protected under the copyright laws.
- Customer acknowledges and agrees that the software may have been developed by a third party software supplier named in the copyright notice(s) included with the software, who shall be authorized to hold the Customer responsible for any copyright infringement or violation of this License Agreement.

Transfer of Rights in Software

- Customer may transfer rights in the software to a third party only as part of the transfer of all its rights and only if Customer obtains the prior agreement of the third party to be bound by the terms of this License Agreement.
- Upon such a transfer, Customer agrees that its rights in the software are terminated and that it will either destroy its copies and adaptations or deliver them to the third party.
- Transfer to a U.S. government department or agency or to a prime or lower tier contractor in connection with a U.S. government contract shall be made only upon their prior written agreement to terms required by HP.

Sublicensing and Distribution

- Customer may not sublicense the software or distribute copies or adaptations of the software to the public in physical media or by telecommunication without the prior written consent of HP.

Notice of Warranty Claims: Customer must notify HP in writing of any warranty claim not later than thirty (30) days after the expiration of the warranty period.

Limitation of Warranty: HP makes no other express warranty, whether written or oral, with respect to this product. Any implied warranty of merchantability or fitness is limited to the 90-day duration of this written warranty. Some states or provinces do not allow limitations on how long an implied warranty lasts, so the above limitation or exclusion may not apply to you.*

This warranty gives specific legal rights, and you may also have other rights which vary from state to state, or province to province.

Exclusive Remedies: The remedies provided above are Customer's sole and exclusive remedies. In no event shall HP be liable for any direct, indirect, special, incidental, or consequential damages (including lost profit) whether based on warranty, contract, tort, or any other legal theory. Some states or provinces do not allow the exclusion or limitation of incidental or consequential damages, so the above limitation or exclusion may not apply to you.

Warranty Service: Warranty service may be obtained from the nearest HP sales office or other location indicated in the owner's manual or service booklet.

* UK only: if you are a "consumer" as defined by statutes, parts of this statement may not apply to you.
